ADMINISTRATION

In this, the 25th Anniversary year of McNally, I welcome the opportunity to look at our Yearbook's "Going for a new Trend".

Major anniversary years such as this always prompt a looking back. We reminisce about the first grade 10 and 11 students in the 1964-65 year; the first city championship team — Women's Junior Basketball, 1964-65 (we have had 49 championships since then and there are many more to come); the first graduation class in 1965-66; all of the activities leading us to our present year. These reflections prompt us to ask: What trends have been established? What new ones are being created? We can foretell a continuing of academic excellence, an increase in student participation in school activities, and an increasing awareness in students of their role in community affairs and of their responsibilities to themselves and each other. Above all, we see a trend to an increasing awareness of our environment and our responsibility to clean it up.

Truly, new trends are here every year. They are based upon what we are doing now, and what we think the future will be.

Ron Sheppard

The year 1989-1990 has been, and will always be very special to me. I feel that I am sharing a milestone with this year's grads since, in a way, I too am graduating.

I am very proud to have been able to complete my career in education in a school like McNally. I am thankful to the greatest students and staff in the system for making this year such an enjoyable one for me.

Your pursuit of excellence has made McNally "Nothing But The Best". It is my hope that this pursuit will continue in the future.

Adieu,
B. Chrusch

This year will go into the annals of history as one where new trends are emerging in Europe particularly and the world in general. The destruction of the Berlin wall symbolizes a new era in détente. New trends tend to disturb our "comfort zone", and our feeling of security related to the known and expected; at the same time there is an optimism about what could be — a more harmonious and friendly world.

The students at McNally and the graduating class particularly are facing similar challenges; you will soon be leaving the security of high school life with a view, I believe an optimistic view, that you can help contribute to a better world.

THE OCEAN, MY FUTURE?
There we walked hand in hand,
along the sparkling golden sand,
out I looked to see the brilliant blue sea,
and up I looked to see you looking at me.

The ocean is our future;
The sky is our dreams;
The sand our present comfort;
The passing seagulls, people we have never met.
You swept the hair from out of my eyes,
and there we said our final goodbyes.
Out I looked to see the roaring sea,
and up I looked to see birds staring at me.

The ocean is my future,
The sky is my dream,
The sand my present comfort,
The passing seagulls, people I have never met

And, oh, how much my heart ached from lonely ocean air,
And, oh, how much I longed to hear how much you really care,
Out I looked to see the calm green sea,
and up I looked to see memories of you and me.

The ocean is my future,

THERE IS A WINNER INSIDE EACH OF US!
Winners always take chances.
Like everyone else, they always fear of failing, but they refuse to let fear control their lives.
Winners sometimes think of giving up, but they don't.
When things get rough, they hang on until the going gets better.
Winners are always thinking ahead.
They realize that there is more than one way and are willing to try them all.
Winners know that nobody is perfect.
They can handle their weaknesses, while making the most of all their strenghs.
Winners fall but always get up.
They never let a fall keep them from climbing.
Winners are positive thinkers who see good in all things.
From the ordinary, they make the extraordinary.
Winners believe in the path they have chosen even when it's hard.
They know a goal is only as worthy as the effort that's required to achieve it.

As our school enters a new decade, we the grade 10's (and hopefully future 11's and 12's) will be shaping McNally's history for the 90's. Isn't it exciting? Us, making and shaping history. And we'll do a great job of it too, won't we? After all, we are the Coke Generation . . .

Entering this new decade, we're supposed to be setting new trends. WOW! I mean, this is like a major goal for all of us to try and accomplish, right? Let's see, what new trends can we grade 10's set, hmmm?... Let's start at basic things here, like, say, the doors at McNally. We should all go through one week trying to open the doors properly in this school, without pushing on the wrong side once! (No doubt the teachers rehung the doors before the school opening so that that they could snicker at the students behing their backs. I mean, what else do teachers snicker about Anyways?) Talking about school brings up things that can really blow one's mind and lead one to ask really (to borrow an expression from everybody's favorite Vulcan, Mr. Spock) "fascinating" questions like;

Are the main entrance doors ever going to be unlocked all at once?

Is the Garfield painting above the north stairwell with the guy wearing a "Let's Bop!" T-shirt ever going to be replaced? Is the gravy from the cafeteria always going to become paste after 10 seconds?

Will anybody ever pass Physics, and if yes, who, and how much did he/she have to pay?

I could go on an on, but it would probably get to thoughts too scary to contemplate (like what would it be like if Debi Gibson came to McNally to save the Bopper on the stairwell mural? AAAAHH, NO!). Instead, let's look at how we can not only create new trends, but keep old ones. For example keeping our motto, "Nihil Sed Optimum," "Nothing but the Best" true! Congrats go out to our grade 10's in McNally's 1989 City Champion Junior Football and Junior Boy's Volleyball teams who've kept our motto true (and this is just the beginning, right?). We've also got the best campus in Edmonton, so let's take advantage of this! Let's fill our yearbooks with great memories of the 90's at McNally!

So, with these inspiring thoughts in mind, best of luck in grade 10 (you won't be reading this till it's actually over, but I'm wishing it to you all anyways). I know we'll all have three great years of highschool (or in some cases, four or five years) and that each and every one of us will help bring McNally Composite High into the 1990's at the forefront of all highschools in Edmonton!

Live Long and Prosper!

COMPUTING SCIENCE

Terminal

by Elyne Quan

October 30 ,7:00 p.m.
The bright green screen blinked back at the boy. He could feel the light from the computer terminal on his face. There was no other light in the small, cold room except for the green screen and his eyes were getting tired. To him, he had been working on his program forever without making progress and his frustration was beginning to show.

"Stupid computers", he mumbled, "I could be partying right now, but nooooo... I have to do my assignment over because YOU erased it. Damn I hate computers"

The boy hit the top of the terminal and banged his fist on the keyboard. The screen blinked.

"S---! Now what?"

The screen was black. He hit the computer again.

"Don't do this now. Great, it probably ate my program again and I'll have to start over. I'm even starting to talk to myself and to the computer. See what you've done!"

The computer began to hum. He pounded on the keyboard.

" I hate you, I hope you know that!"

The humming got louder. A little red dot formed on the screen.

" I give up. You win. I surrender."

The boy dropped his head on the keyboard.

The red dot got bigger, the humming got louder.

"Hey, what's going on?"

"Znnnn..."

"Cut it out."

"Znnnnn...."

"Stop!"

"Znnnnnn..."

A flash of electric current came out of the red dot and struck the boy. He had no time to scream, but the moment seemed like eternity to him. He could feel every part of his brain and body exploding inside...

October 31, 8:00 a.m.

The cleaning lady shuffled into the room.

"Damn kid, left the computer on all night. Left a mess too."

She swept up the large pile of ashes on the floor, turned the computer off, left the room and closed the door behind her.

"Znnnnn...."

The black screen hummed.

"Znnnnnn...."

The second year of high school can be the best of the three. We made it through the perils of grade ten–meeting new people, getting lost, being on the bottom of the pile–and now we're experienced veterans. We found out last year where we stood: where we're going, who our friends are, who we are. This year, we can concentrate on making it better. We can get closer to people we want to know better, extending circles of friendship and love that get larger and encompass more people every day. We can also work to improve ourselves. We're always looking for a new hairstyle, a new wardrobe, a new look. We're going for a new trend, and getting there is all the fun! We've passed through the hazards of our freshman year, and the troubles of our senior year are still far off, on the horizon. We're in the eye of the storm. We'll make the best of it this year, and enjoy it while we can. Of course, we should do a little homework.....!

The Chess Club has about 30 paid up members. They have a number of tournaments throughout the year. There is a special tournament for Grade 10 students at the beginning of the year - medals are awarded. There are a number of challenge tournaments open to all grades that determine the top place in the school. There is also a Siamese tournament and a Speed Chess tournament in which trophies are awarded. Last year McNally's Chess Club placed second in the Edmonton Interschool Tournament, but held the first place title for three consecutive years before.

The Conservation Club is a new club this year at McNally. Conservation includes concerns about pollution, endangered species and the environment in general. Club members this year have focused on two main areas of concern - home and school. At home, they are encouraging the conservation of water and heat, and support for the Edmonton "blue box" recycling program. At school, they started with our most used resource - paper. Every classroom and "paper use" area was given a box for collecting paper for recycling. As the "blue box" program is extended, we will also be recycling cans, bottles, plastics etc. Let's all support conservation and recycling - its a matter of life and breath!!!

McNally's own "Van Jammers" spent four days in the beautiful Rocky Mountains, soaking up the sunshine, getting plenty of fresh air and exercise, and having lots of good, clean fun.

The trip was a whirlwind of excitement from the moment the two vans left McNally. In spite of having to stop several times en route to rescue falling luggage from the roof racks, the thirty-odd Club members arrived at Rampart Creek Hostel in high spirits.

The students soon learned the joys of outdoor living as they attempted to wash in streams of sub-zero temperatures, and fended off many ferocious animals (chipmunks posed the greatest threat). Many fun-filled hours were spent hiking steadily upwards, carrying fully loaded backpacks, only to spend many more fun-filled hours hiking steadily downwards again. Careful planning resulted in many students bringing enough food for the entire camp, while others contemplated survival without forgotten items such as deodorant, toothpaste, and pyjamas.

When asked if they would like to go again, the general reaction of the participants was "Just a moment, I'll go pack!". Sounds like an experience one would not want to miss!

In February, 1990, 25 students and two teachers from McNally had the chance to participate in an Open House Canada exchange with Ecole Le Sommet in Charlesbourg, a city directly adjacent to Quebec City. Our reception in Quebec Airport was very warm (especially that of Mr. Goupil's mom who greeted him at the Quebec Airport, kissing him through the window, exclaiming "There he is!"). Many of us had the opportunity to see the opening parade of the Carnaval du Quebec. We also did some skiing at the Relais Quebec, and the Quebec Parlement. Another great day outdoors was spent at the Village des Sports a Valcartier, as well as watching some hockey games at the International Pee-Wee Tournament, and of course, the most gruelling sport of all, shopping! All of us had a great chance to experience Quebec's unique culture, with the Carneval and the Caribou! With the students and teachers coming from Quebec in May, all of us are getting ready to showcase our own beautiful city, Edmonton: City of Champions!

McNally is definitely "Nothing but the Best!". As a result, it has been an honor to serve on the Students Union Executive Council this year. As well, I would like to take this time to personally thank each member of council, student body, staff, and Miss Smith our advisor for their endless McNally Spirit, for the friendship, support and dedication, and putting in countless hours to make this year's activities a success. Most of all, thanks to everyone for making the 1989-90 McNally year a most memorable one, through their involvement and pride in starting off the new decade right in our school. I am very fortunate to be a part of it all, and hopefully I have helped create some fond memories for many through my roll as president. I wish everyone the best of luck in the future and remember, strive for the best and you will succeed in all you do.

Our highschool years contain unforgettable memories - meeting new people, cementing new friendships and having a good time with all your buds . . . but don't forget those hot dates with your study notes around exam times. These years have been both good and bad and I hope that you have learned something (even if it's not important) from your experiences. GRADE XII

The typical grade 12s have a certain air about them. They hold their head just a bit higher and talk just a touch louder than the others around them. As they stand in front of the school doors, they think to themselves, "This is MY school."

The grade 12's have many memories to be proud of (and some not to be so proud of ): Grad, (and aftergrad.) exams, (and diplomas) dances, (and hallparties) and all the other nightmares associated with being a grade 12 student.

Grade 12s stroll into the school in the mornings (after getting out of their own cars, not the bus) without even a glace at those shivering at the bus stop.

If they were 10 minutes late for first class, it was too late. The students then head for the cafeteria and consume the ritual donut and hot chocolate (coffee for those that had long nights!)

Second period means one thing - sleep. Time to catch up on the zzz's they missed while talking on the phone til all hours.

Noon hits and that means either cram for an exam or head for McDonald's. You would never think of seeing a grade 12 just sitting around (without an excuse of course.)

Afternoons always seem to hold spares for grade 12's. They all gather in the cafeteria or library (only to be kicked out) to gossip about what's happening to whom with whom.

As soon as 2:50 rolls around, the grade 12's empty their traditionally messy lockers and head for the parking lot. This is their school, towering figures that have made a place for themselves after 12 years of struggle!

REMEMBER

The doors of McNally first opened in 1964 to almost nine hundred students. It now proudly holds close to twelve hundred. This school has a very respectable reputation of being one of Edmonton's finest high schools in academics, sports and fine arts.

In honour of McNally's twenty-fifth anniversary, a list of astonishing events unfold that this school has encountered in the past. There were many memorable situations which have not been trememdously publicized. These are just some of the escapades which McNally has based its history upon and a foundation on which McNally will grow its memories for the future.

Memorable Escapades in the last twenty-five years:

Mr. Sheppard desperately tried to open the general office but had no luck due to all the blown up balloons partitioned inside. Not only was the front office filled with these multicolored rubber spheres, each office (that includes Mr. Chrusch's) was filled to the corners and the ceiling.

-A group of students poured tens of thousands of bottle caps (yes, bottle caps) all over the bottom hallway floor. And, of course, they cleaned it up too.

-There was also a year when a group of students put the school up for sale. Let's just say the real estate agents were not impressed when they found all their signs in front of the school (or was it the fact that they couldn't understand why McNally was listed under both Century 21 and Royal LePage).

-It was also a great surprise one year to find a grade twelve student strung up on one side of the courtyard. Apparently, he was also a mountain climber and decided he wanted to sleep overnight at McNally.

-Mr. Silverman was estatic when he found a lady sitting on his lap singing "Happy Birthday" to him. This singing telegram was even more interesting since she looked great from afar in her full beige costume.

-McNally had one of its largest slumber parties when over a hundred tents were set up outside the school. What a night!

Not so Memorable Escapades

-After a large snow storm, a group of McNally students decided to shovel all the snow in front of all the doors. No one could get into the school until a small entrance was opened. This event was a fire hazard and it apparently cost many hours of labour to have the snow removed.

-The "Cruelty Against Animals" group was very disgusted when they found a pig running around in the cafeteria and courtyard. What a headline, "Student Chased by Pig in School Cafeteria!"

-Mr. Chrusch went on a panic attack when he realized that 240 desks were missing from the small gym before the final exam that was to be written in half an hour. There was a sigh of relief when they discovered that the desks had been stacked to the top of the ceiling of the stage by a hockey team that practiced there the night before.

-When Edmonton was infested with caterpillars a group of students decided to decorate the main hallway by dumping buckets of these creepy-crawly insects. The custodians were not thrilled to have to burn these furry creatures when the people who dumped the caterpillars forgot to clean them up.

-A female student decided to hire a male stripper for her friend's birthday. The striptease was stopped, however, when the administration discovered that the stripping was being done on school property and the girls were under eighteen.

-At 1:30 a.m., Mr. Sheppard, the School Board Security and the police had to break up a 24 hour Grad party at McNally when neighbours complained about excess noise at the school.

A rock band played on the roof and approximately five $250 windows were broken. No one was suspended but 4-5 students had to pay for the damages of the windows and to the school. These are just a few of the interesting escapades that McNally has endured since it first opened and, of course, these won't be the last of events bound to occur. This school has built itself on class and dignity in dealing with all situations it has encountered and on its motto, "Nihil Sept Optimum" - "Nothing but the Best".

Happy Twenty-Fifth Anniversary McNally!
